

A Treasurer's Moment

To quote Jane, from one of her messages this past week.....

"When we walk the labyrinth, we trust we will make the journey in and out, even though the path is circuitous, if we just keep walking. Now we are on a journey for which we can't map out the path -all we can do is take the next few steps and trust that we are doing the best we know how, and will somehow find the way through this."

These are times when the anxiety levels are high and essential services in all trades are in great demand. Listening to my children and other family members this week I hear what I perhaps have never heard before. Moments of uncertainty, moments of "can you help", moments of grief as I learned of an unexpected family death and yet, moments of a closeness that I now hear and very much listen for. I'm sure all of you have had similar moments and stories to tell as we reach out to others.

These are times when anxiety levels are high, and the essential services provided by our ministry personnel are in demand.....pastoral care through various media forms, Facebook chats, telephone calls, emails, websites. We are in a time of so many moving pieces, and we want the certainty and calm assurance of our ministry personnel and others to continue.

With in-person worship being suspended and other incomes stopped or pretty much crumbled, the reality is that our communities of faith may be faced with financial concerns. And we are not alone. Circumstances are changing hour by hour as the United Church of Canada helps to guide all communities of faith.

And may I finish by quoting the United Church of Canada.....

"Grace and peace to you as we live in the reality of being the Church Scattered"
